

Sociology Undergraduate Research Symposium

Wednesday, June 5th, 2019 12:00 - 2:00pm, Rachel Carson Red Room

With keynote speaker Professor Rebecca London

The Sociology Department is pleased to announce our second Undergraduate Research Symposium. This event will feature work completed throughout the students undergraduate careers at UCSC, and especially leading up to graduation. Students will showcase their work in the form of articles, research papers, digital presentations and any other medium in which our students are conducting their research.

This year's presenters:

Ángel Jesús Mora

The Incarceration Effect: Barriers Students with Incarceration Experience Deal with in Higher Education

Alyssa Garcia

The Political Economy of Legal Marijuana in California

Enrique Ipina

The What and How of Discussions of Race in the Classroom

John Kenney

Unsettling California: Understanding Empire Through El Camino Real

Wendy Siguenza

Impacts of Ethnic and Multicultural Greek Letter Organizations

Manfred Sy

Black on White Love: How Racial/Ethnic Identities Influence Partner-Decisions and Relationships

Refreshments will be provided at this fun, informative and Sociology-filled event. Please join us to learn all about the fascinating research being done by our undergraduates!

For questions or accommodation needs, please contact Leah Hanson: lhanson@ucsc.edu or 831-502-7036